Plane Crash Kills 32 In New Hampshire

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — A Northeast Airlines plane carrying 39 passengers and a crew of three crashed in a fog and burned 60 feet from the top of 2,700-foot Moose Mountain near Hanover Friday night. Thirty-two died. Helicopters took the 10 survivors off the mountain.

Northeast said the pilot, Capt. John A. Rapsis, 52, of Nashua, N.H., with the airline 14 years, had made the trip "hundreds of times." He was not among the survivors.

Among the injured were the stewardess, Miss Betty J. Frail, 21, of Berkeley Heights, N.J., and Winthrop, Mass.; Robert Kimball, 45, assistant dean of Tuck Business School, Dartmouth College, and Dr. Richard L. Veech of Oxford, England.

All three were reported in satisfactory condition at Mary Hitchcock Hospital, Hanover. The hospital said one of the injured, Bernard Desmond Jr. of Springfield, Vt., was in critical condition. He suffered head injuries. The rescue helicopters landed in the glare of auto headlights on the campus green at Dartmouth College. Ambulances whisked the injured three blocks to the hospital.

Hanover Police Chief Dennis J. Cooney told newsmen at the hospital that 10 survivors had been brought in "and that's it." Rescuers who had labored for hours in the rough, rocky terrain, guided at times only by flashlights, suspended work until daylight.

"There was a terrible crash and the plane burst into flames," said a witness, Parly R. Willis, 39, of Lebanon. Willis said he was returning to his car after hunting deer with bow and arrow when he heard the plane overhead. "I couldn't see it because of the fog above me," he said, "but all at once these bright landing lights started to shine in the fog. They were so close to the mountain then that I knew they were going to hit it. I never expected there would be any survivors."

The Fairchild-Hiller FH227

propjet left Boston at 4:55 p.m. with 17 passengers for Lebanon, N.H., and 22 for Montpelier, Vt. an hour and a half after the plane's scheduled 5:30 p.m. arrival at Lebanon, Northeast announced it was overdue.

Almost simultaneously, a fire that lit the sky was spotted high on Moose Mountain and fire fighters and volunteers began the tortuous climb.

LBJ Ignores Red Blast, Still Seeks Quick Bomb Halt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite an angry denial from Hanoi of any bombing-halt deal, President Johnson was reported today to be pressing ahead with secret negotiations for an agreement with North Vietnam to de-escalate the war.

While the Hanoi blast could be read as a rejection of Johnson's still secret proposals, authorities chose to interpret it as a propaganda attack which did not necessarily reflect the final decision of North Vietnamese leaders.

The broadcast by Hanoi radio Friday, however, was receiving careful study. As reported in press dispatches from Hong Kong, it said: "Statements by U.S. propagandists that Hanoi has accepted U.S. conditions in return for a bombing halt are nothing but deliberate lies."

Washington authorities took the position that there was still at least an even chance, probably better, for reaching some understanding on scaling down the war and advancing the Paris peace talks which would enable Johnson to end the bombing in the near future. This estimate presumably figured in a statement made Friday by Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon in New York.

"I am told," Nixon said, "that top officials in the administration have been driving very hard for an agreement on a bombing halt, accompanied possibly by a cease-fire, in the immediate future. I have since learned these reports are true."

Another Hanoi broadcast recorded by U.S. radio monitors and made available in Washington, spotlighted in North Vietnamese terms the two issues widely reported as being at the heart of the negotiations for the past several weeks.

Johnson's principal conditions for a bombing halt have been reported to be that North Vietnam agree to scale down its military activities or at least to freeze the present level in the fighting, and agree to start a second phase of the Paris peace talks in which the South Vietnamese government would participate.

A more recent ordinance somewhat limits the way leaves may be burned on private property. They must be burned in an approved incinerator which is not closer than 20 feet to the nearest building.

Actually, there is no need to burn the leaves at all, Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe says. The city has recently purchased a leaf vacuum and it is systematically covering the city.

However, there are 200 miles of streets in the city and it does take time to take them all. City offices have been flooded with calls about burning and the leaf vacuum schedule.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two lame-duck congressmen are taking one last fling at a privilege of their office: Trips abroad at government expense.

For Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., it is a two-month junket around the world that will take him to 19 countries. Rep. Barrett O'Hara, D-Ill., left Friday for New York and what a House committee spokesman said was the beginning of a one-month tour of Africa.

Normally, congressional trips abroad are for the purpose of making legislative recommendations. But Congress has adjourned for the year and since Long was defeated in the Missouri Democratic primary in August and O'Hara was beaten for renomination in June, neither man will be back for the opening of the new Congress next year.

Long's administrative assistant, Daniel Miles, said the senator was making his world trip for the Senate Banking and Currency Committee "to study export insurance and the Export-Import Bank."

Wallace Jibes At Humphrey And Nixon Urges Debate, Claims HHH Out Of Running

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — George C. Wallace jibed his presidential opponents in a relaxed, low-key speech Friday night, sharpening his attack on Richard M. Nixon for refusing to debate and saying that his Democratic opponent, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is out of the running.

Wallace's spirits were visibly buoyant as he neared the end of what he considers one of his most successful weeks of campaigning. His comments drew cheers and laughter from 400 supporters who paid $25 a plate.

He speaks today at Terre Haute, Ind., and Cincinnati, Ohio, before returning to Montgomery, Ala., for a day of rest Sunday.

Wallace said the pollsters now were hedging their reports that he has support of about 20 per cent of the electorate. "Now they're writing, 'this election is hard to gauge,'" Wallace said. "They're laying the predicate for being wrong."

Concerning the television debate proposal, Wallace said he had withdrawn as a potential participant not only to strip away Nixon's stated reason for refusing but also because he felt he would be the beneficiary of a Nixon-Humphrey confrontation.

"I thought that if both of them got to telling on each other, it would help us," Wallace said. Wallace cited an article written by Nixon in 1964 which said television debates "contribute significantly to... the public interest."

Wallace headed for Cincinnati from Terre Haute, Ind., to deliver what his backers billed as a major address. He was to arrive at the Greater Cincinnati Airport about noon and go directly to the downtown Exposition Center for a rally.

LeMay made campaign stops in Cleveland and Cincinnati Friday and was to fly to Indianapolis today.

LeMay appeared at a $25-a-plate party fund-raising dinner in Columbus Friday night and called for intensified bombing of North Vietnam.

"We have to convince North Vietnam that we're going to destroy everything they have, and then start doing it," he said. LeMay, who recently completed a fact-finding trip to Vietnam, said the United States must settle a war against communism there or face many more Vietnams.

Elsewhere in Ohio politics: Republican U.S. Senate candidate William B. Saxbe said today that if elected he would seek programs to make Ohio the biggest state in the manufacture of automobiles.

Saxbe said Ohio already is well on the way to becoming tops in the nation and credited this to the state's favorable industrial climate and tax structure.

He will be in Lorain, Fremont, Mansfield, Zanesville and Cleveland on Monday; Defiance, Lima, Middletown, Athens and Euclid on Tuesday; and will go to Ashtabula and Youngstown on Wednesday before appearing at a rally in Cleveland for GOP presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

Saxbe's Democratic opponent, John J. Gilligan called Friday for a 50 per cent hike in Social Security benefits over the next five years.

In a position paper issued in Columbus, Gilligan said a tax increase would not be needed to finance the expanded benefits. "The funds can be found in the federal government's general revenue fund," he said.

Although the Soviet space program is veiled in secrecy, there have been indications that the Russians would concentrate on unmanned experiments. Cosmonauts traveling abroad made no mention of plans to send a man into orbit.

Tass said the ship was launched at 11:34 a.m., Moscow time by "a powerful rocket booster."

The ship may have been launched to coincide with the Oct. 28 anniversary of the Communist youth organization Komsomol and the 51st birthday of the Soviet state Nov. 7.

A few cautious public pronouncements in the past have indicated that the Soviets eventually plan to construct a launching platform in space from which cosmonauts will be fired to the moon and other planets. Nixon Tries To Cut Impact Of Pre-Election Bomb Halt

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is trying to defuse the political impact of any Vietnam bombing halt or cease-fire before Election Day.

In an hour-long live television broadcast to the Northeastern states Friday night, the Republican presidential candidate reaffirmed his public support of President Johnson's peace search and again said he would welcome a pre-election breakthrough in the Paris talks.

But earlier in the day, Nixon issued a statement in which he aired—and simultaneously rejected—what he called rumors and speculation that a spurt in peace-seeking activity was "a cynical, last-minute attempt" by Johnson to promote the candidacy of Hubert H. Humphrey, Nixon's Democratic opponent.

The GOP candidate said Johnson has been "impartial and candid" in dealing with him on Vietnam. But he did not say that all members of the Johnson administration were equally impartial.

The potential impact of a Vietnam breakthrough on Nixon's political fortunes has been a major item for discussion within the Republican candidate's camp for the past 10 days.

In his paid political telecast, aired by stations in eight states and the District of Columbia, Nixon said that if elected he would try to find a way to equalize welfare payments in such states as Mississippi and Alabama, where benefits are low, with the higher payments made in such states as New York.

Unequal payments, he said, cause the poor of the rural South to migrate to Northern cities.

Ohio Trip Set By Wallace; Senate Candidates Active

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS American Independent Party presidential candidate George C. Wallace and running mate Curtis E. LeMay swapped states today in their blitz for Midwestern votes.

Bidding for campus support in his campaign for the presidency, Humphrey told a student audience Friday in San Jose, Calif., that if elected he would work for the changes at home and abroad that they are clamoring for.

Humphrey's speech appeared to draw a favorable response from students at San Jose State College, who packed a campus field in broiling sun to hear him. The vice president was nearly mobbed by well-wishers when he finished.

Student body president Dick Miner, who introduced Humphrey, said most of the students regarded Humphrey as the least of three evils running for president. He challenged the vice president to tell them why they should help him defeat Republican Richard M. Nixon, Nov. 5.

Humphrey, who had advance notice from Miner that he would receive such a challenge, said he and his running mate, Edmund S. Muskie, offered the students their best chance "to change the things you cannot tolerate."

Citing their grievances about the war, the persistence of poverty, racial discrimination and draft inequities, he said, "I'm prepared to change all those things if you give me the chance."

1st Russian Trip Since April, 1967

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched a rookie cosmonaut into space, its first manned shot in more than a year, the news agency Tass reported.

The ship, Soyuz 3, carried Col. Georgy Beregovoi on his first trip into orbit, Tass said. It identified him as a "Soviet pilot-cosmonaut, hero of the Soviet Union and a merited test pilot."

Tass said Beregovoi has "started fulfilling the program of the flight" but issued no details of what maneuvers might be performed. It said Beregovoi "feels well" and all systems aboard the craft were functioning normally.

The last Soviet manned space flight was Soyuz 1, launched in April 1967. It crashed to earth, killing Cosmonaut Vladimir Komarov.

Beregovoi is the 12th Soviet cosmonaut to be put into orbit. Those before him have achieved an impressive list of "firsts," including the first manned launching and Alexei Leonov's first space walk in March 1965.

Soviet space plans are not announced in advance, so that failures are not publicized unless the circumstances are extraordinary, such as the death of Komarov.

Although the Soviet space program is veiled in secrecy, there have been indications that the Russians would concentrate on unmanned experiments. Cosmonauts traveling abroad made no mention of plans to send a man into orbit.

Tass said the ship was launched at 11:34 a.m., Moscow time by "a powerful rocket booster."

Ohio Growth Follows Line Across State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's population growth seems to be confined primarily to a southwestern - to - northeastern swath of the state, according to the state development department.

The department reported Friday that Ohio's population climbed 18,134 during the last six months of 1967, with most of the increases in the northeastern, central and southwestern parts of the state.

Arlene Eis, demographer who compiled the report, said the Cleveland metropolitan area gained the most in population. Since the 1960 census, Cleveland has grown from 1,909,483 to an estimated 2,115,792.

The state as a whole has gained 10.9 per cent in population during the same period, increasing from 9,706,397 to 10,787,355. Miss Eis said Ohio's population gain was due to more births than deaths and to migration of people from neighboring states.

She said 85 to 90 per cent of the population gain was due to a natural increase and the remainder was from migration from West Virginia, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Indiana and New York.

Although the state's birth rate is ahead of the death rate in every Ohio county, it is declining in absolute numbers.

No Election Hanky-Panky

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown made it clear Friday that he will not tolerate any hanky-panky in connection with the Nov. 5 election.

Brown said he has taken steps to prevent "ghost voting"—by people registered as residing in non-existing or vacant homes.

And he said he has advised local election officials to summon law enforcement officers if there are any attempts to picket or demonstrate at polling places or if any other efforts are made to disrupt the election.

Brown noted that many homes have been torn down in urban renewal areas, by condemnation or by highway development.

In a directive to county boards of election, he outlined these preventative steps: —Have an investigator ascertain whether there are persons on registration lists with non-existing homes as voting residences.

—Mark registration lists so that persons cannot vote from a non-existent residence. —Do not hesitate to challenge the right of an unqualified elector to vote when he has not resided in that residence within the 40-day period immediately preceding the election.

Brown referred to a reported situation in Chicago where skid row derelicts and other ghost voters allegedly were listed on election precinct poll sheets.

Report Outlays For State Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state spent $176,347,526 for capital improvements during the first quarter of the current fiscal year.

State Auditor Roger Cloud released the figure Friday and noted it was an increase of $19,336,811 over the comparable figure for last year.

He said the largest outlay was made by the Highway Department, with expenses totaling $146,888,909. This compared to $128,212,841 spent by the department in the same period last year.

WHAT'S on the weather menu for the weekend in the Roundtown area? The local weather observer predicts the cloudy weather Saturday will change to clearing by night, cloudy again on Sunday with a good chance of rain.

Comic Strip Being Dropped

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Birmingham News announced Friday it is dropping Walt Kelly's comic strip, "Pogo," through next week because of its lampooning of George C. Wallace.

The News said Kelly began a series of cartoon panels Thursday lampooning—to an extent the news feels is unfair—third-party presidential candidate George Wallace.

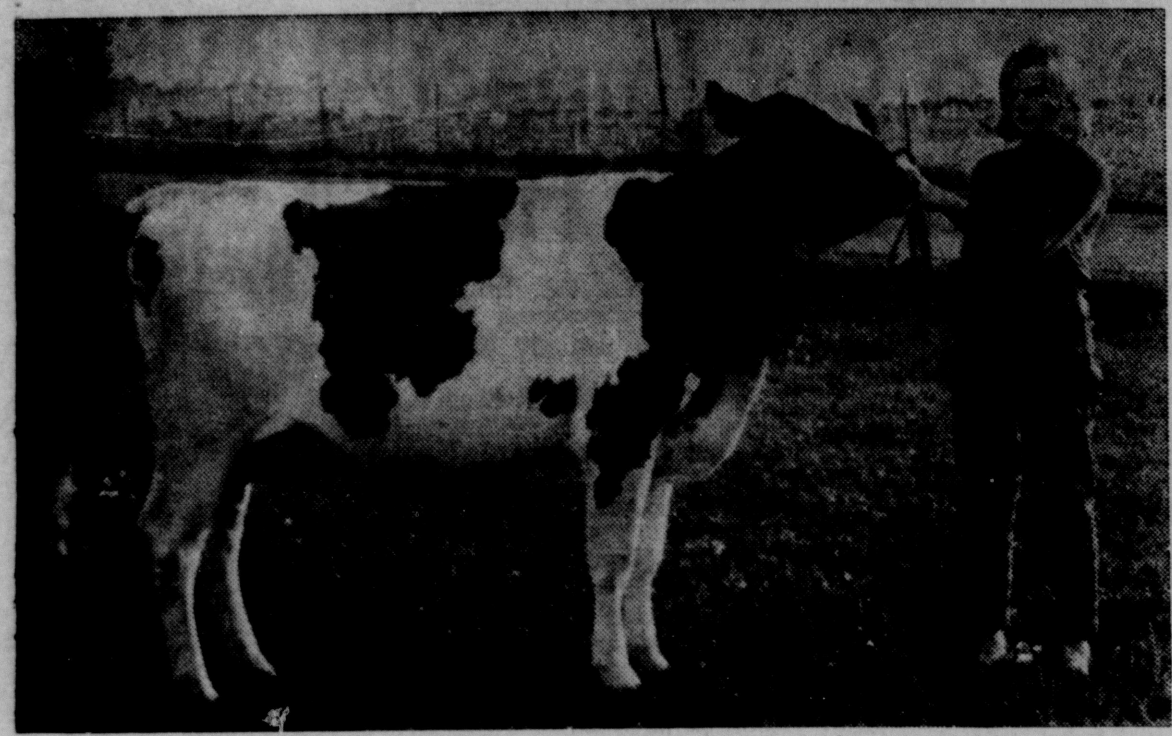

The News, which has endorsed Republican Richard M. Nixon for president, said the strip would be resumed the following weeks.

States To Return To 'Slow Time'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Many Americans will get an extra hour of sleep tonight when Daylight Saving Time ends in most areas of the country.

Clocks will be set back one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday in areas which switched from Standard Time to Daylight Saving Time last April.

Under the Uniform Time Act, passed in 1966, all states, except those which exempted themselves, were required to go on Daylight Saving Time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

The Holstein winner was Rue-Jen Debbie, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Jones, Washington Twp. The Ayrshire winner was Walnut Ayr's Tall Princess owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hines of Walnut Twp. Both of these outstanding dairy animals won ribbons at the North American Dairy Show Competition held at the Ohio Exposition Center, Columbus, last week. It is believed to be the first time that two dairy futurity winners have come from the same county in the same year. Jones is exhibiting his animal in the upper photo, while Sheryl Hines is exhibiting the Ayrshire owned by her parents in the lower photo.

File Charges Against Truitt In Hijacking

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The wife and children of Alben Truitt, grandson of the late Vice President Alben Barkley, have gone into seclusion in this island city where federal authorities say Truitt chartered an airplane that was seized and flown to Cuba.

Allison Truitt and her three children reportedly fled Thursday from the tents they had occupied in a campground-trailer park complex for nearly a month, leaving many of their possessions behind.

Key Westers who knew the Truitts said they had experienced financial difficulties since their arrival at the campground Sept. 15, and Truitt reportedly was hard-pressed to buy necessities for the family.

"He was worried over putting food on the table," said Al Knowles, a grocer whose store had been patronized by Truitt.

Truitt, one of Barkley's four grandsons, was charged in a warrant Thursday afternoon with air piracy in the hijacking of a light plane chartered for aerial photography over the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday. A U.S. commissioner set bond at $100,000 on the charge which carries a maximum penalty of death.

The hijack ride provided pilot Charles Z. Oliveros, a 28-year-old Army veteran of the Viet-

Banks Maintain Leadership In Farm Credit Services

Ohio banks were providing farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Frank A. Gans, president of The First National Bank of Circleville, who represents the Ohio Bankers Association as Pickaway County key banker. During 1967, the banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 27th annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of The American Bankers Association, Gans reported that at the beginning of the year, Ohio banks were helping farmers with $361 million in loans, 9 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $177 million in production loans and $184 million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $127 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $193 million by the Federal Land Banks; $150 million by Production Credit Associations; and $8 million in nonreal estate loans, plus $5 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 54 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Ohio farmers came from banks.

Gans said that "bankers in Ohio are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers."

The increased use of credit by farmers, according to Gans, has been accompanied by a substantial gain in the total assets of farm families. Therefore, in the aggregate, the equity position of farmers, contrary to public opinion, is being maintained at a satisfactory level. Nationally, farm families have $231 billion of their own funds invested in agriculture. This represents 82 per cent of the total capital requirements of farmers.

Soon it will be time to put that electric blanket back to work for your comfort and convenience.

Here are a few clues on care from USDA specialists. Plug in your electric blanket to see that all electrical parts are working properly as follows:

Check connections to be sure all plugs fit securely so the connections won't come apart in normal use.

See if the signal light on the control dial goes on indicating that the blanket is heating.

Check the cord and if there are bare and badly worn areas, take the blanket and cord parts to an authorized dealer. Be prepared to wait about two weeks and longer if the blanket must be returned to the factory for replacement parts.

Never, never have an electric blanket dry cleaned. This usually ruins the insulation on wiring. Most blankets are washable. Read the directions that came with your blanket and follow them carefully. If the instructions have been misplaced, ask your dealer to supply a new set to match the blanket model you bought, or write to the home economics department of the manufacturer.

Plushy, furry, velvety, fluffy — fabrics with these deep pile surfaces have fashion importance in the fall fabric market, reports Mrs. Edna Akers Blume, Extension Clothing Specialist, The Ohio State University. Ready-to-wear offers many garments in a variety of deep pile fabrics. You'll find many of these fabrics available in yard goods for home construction too.

Before you buy either ready-to-wear or yard goods, give a little thought to the fabric and your own wardrobe needs. What kind of garment do you need — something for sports, casual wear, or dressy wear? Garment style, trimming, and use of the fabric will help you decide.

Check to see that the style and the fabric compliment each other. Is the garment styled to show the fabric to best advantage? Simple lines emphasize the fabric; too many seams, top stitching, heavy trim, tabs, pockets, or cuffs detract from the fabric.

Also check the direction of the pile. Usually all pieces are cut with the pile going in the same direction — either up or down.

The effect is different and the choice is yours.

Since the fabric's beauty lies in its deep texture, bulky edges and seams can detract from the over-all appearance. For a top-quality look, eliminate all unnecessary bulk from edges. For example — the facing may be cut with the garment whenever possible to eliminate extra seams. If the fabric is very bulky, you may use the furrier method of handling darts and seams to eliminate bulk.

And before you buy, read the label for fiber content and recommended care. Mrs. Blume suggests. Before you select a garment or fabric, decide if you can provide the care that is suggested by the manufacturer. Some deep pile fabrics can be cleaned only by the furrier method. The wearability and beauty of such fabrics is maintained only by giving them proper care.

Which Children Shall Die To Be Decided By Biafrans

By LARRY HEINERLING
Associated Press Writer

LIBREVILLE, Gabon (AP) — When thousands of Biafran children are starving and you cannot save all of them, how do you choose who should live and who should die?

That is a moral dilemma for the Biafran government and the Red Cross, which has flown hundreds of children to relief centers here.

"The Biafrans want us to take the better-off children to preserve the race," said one Red Cross nurse. "They say the really helpless children have already suffered permanent brain damage from malnutrition and therefore are lost causes."

The Red Cross, said the nurse, "aims its policy at saving the most critical cases."

While the question goes unanswered some 1,500 children have been evacuated to this control African capital and are being cared for.

Libreville, normally an easy-going port city of rolling hills and swaying palm trees, has turned into a bustling center for dozens of relief workers, emergency Red Cross stations and a base for Red Cross mercy flights to the Ibo heartland in Nigeria.

The French and Gabonese Red Cross, the Rome-based Knights of Malta, Caritas volunteers from Germany, the Swiss Terres des Hommes and the capital's Rotary and Lions clubs have merged their manpower to save lives.

"You should have seen them when they first arrived," a Gabonese Red Cross nurse said, pointing to a group of children in one center as they gleefully scrambled over each other in pursuit of a yellow plastic ball. "Some couldn't even walk because of the starvation."

Today, nearly a month after they were evacuated from Biafra in a Red Cross plane, the children, mostly 2 to 9 have shed much of the evidence of malnutrition.

The gray-white and reddish-brown hair, symptoms of varying degrees of the deficiency disease Kwashiorkor, is slowly returning to the frizzled black of healthier days. Still — thin legs are growing more sturdy and the tightly stretched skin over rib cages is loosening up under a steady diet.

When the first Red Cross airlifts to Gabon began several babies, weak to the point of exhaustion, and others unable to walk from lack of strength, died soon after their arrival.

The combined efforts of the relief agencies, coordinated by the Gabonese government and believed to be mainly financed by France, are straining to save the rest.

A committee headed by Gabon's President Albert-Bernard Bongo and made up of Cabinet ministers with the Gabonese Red Cross and a Biafran representative, is spearheading the operation.

Scranton Woman Better Next Day... Pain Of Piles Relieved

Treatment Promptly Relieves Pain, Itching In Most Cases

Scranton, Pa. Mrs. J. Stranieri, Jr. of this city writes: "When I had our son, I got hemorrhoids and how painful. My husband bought Preparation H for me. The next day, I was much better — just after using it once."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

"The program is meager in relation to the problem," said one observer, "but for Libreville, a town of 50,000, it is prodigious."

Four major relief centers have been established here and others have been set up in Franceville and at the Catholic mission at Lamberene, adjacent to the jungle hospital founded by Albert Schweitzer.

File Charges Against Truitt In Hijacking

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The wife and children of Alben Truitt, grandson of the late Vice President Alben Barkley, have gone into seclusion in this island city where federal authorities say Truitt chartered an airplane that was seized and flown to Cuba.

Allison Truitt and her three children reportedly fled Thursday from the tents they had occupied in a campground-trailer park complex for nearly a month, leaving many of their possessions behind.

Key Westers who knew the Truitts said they had experienced financial difficulties since their arrival at the campground Sept. 15, and Truitt reportedly was hard-pressed to buy necessities for the family.

"He was worried over putting food on the table," said Al Knowles, a grocer whose store had been patronized by Truitt.

Truitt, one of Barkley's four grandsons, was charged in a warrant Thursday afternoon with air piracy in the hijacking of a light plane chartered for aerial photography over the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday. A U.S. commissioner set bond at $100,000 on the charge which carries a maximum penalty of death.

The hijack ride provided pilot Charles Z. Oliveros, a 28-year-old Army veteran of the Viet-

Banks Maintain Leadership In Farm Credit Services

Ohio banks were providing farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Frank A. Gans, president of The First National Bank of Circleville, who represents the Ohio Bankers Association as Pickaway County key banker. During 1967, the banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 27th annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of The American Bankers Association, Gans reported that at the beginning of the year, Ohio banks were helping farmers with $361 million in loans, 9 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $177 million in production loans and $184 million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $127 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $193 million by the Federal Land Banks; $150 million by Production Credit Associations; and $8 million in nonreal estate loans, plus $5 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 54 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Ohio farmers came from banks.

Gans said that "bankers in Ohio are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers."

The increased use of credit by farmers, according to Gans, has been accompanied by a substantial gain in the total assets of farm families. Therefore, in the aggregate, the equity position of farmers, contrary to public opinion, is being maintained at a satisfactory level. Nationally, farm families have $231 billion of their own funds invested in agriculture. This represents 82 per cent of the total capital requirements of farmers.

Robert Finch Man Behind Richard Nixon

By BILL BOYARSKY
Associated Press Writer

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON
(AP)—One by one they trail the candidate off the jet—unsmiling young assistants, their hair neatly trimmed in a presidential cut, their suits dark and well pressed, their faces full of fierce dedication to Richard M. Nixon.

Following the pack is a different sort of a man, a tall, angular fellow who needs a haircut and a shoeshine. Even though he lives in sunny California, his face is pale. There's not much sun in a politician's sun-filled room.

He is Robert Hutchison Finch, lieutenant governor of California, one of Nixon's oldest and best friends and now among the first rank of advisers to the Republican candidate for president.

After living uncomfortably in the shadow of California Gov. Ronald Reagan for two years, Finch has now moved onto the sunny plateau of political success as one of the most important men behind the man whom current polls say will be the next president of the United States.

"He is Nixon's perfect alter ego," said a friend. "They think alike. Both are perfectionists. Both are drivers. But Finch never had that heavy image. Finch never came off as a heavy."

Finch, 43, is a Los Angeles lawyer and professional political manager by trade. Starting as a congressional assistant after World War II, he lost a race for Congress, went to work for Nixon and learned to play national politics when he managed Nixon's presidential campaign in 1960.

Four years later, he managed Republican George Murphy to the U.S. Senate in California, and then, made the unusual jump from back room strategist to candidate when he was elected lieutenant governor in 1966. He polled more votes than Reagan.

Confined by the limited duties of his office, Finch worked hard at state chores and didn't oppose the Reagan-for-president campaign being run out of the governor's office. He even cast a vote for Reagan at the GOP National Convention as a member of the California delegation. Although he advised Nixon privately, he never tried to break the delegation away from Reagan.

As soon as Wisconsin put Nixon over the top, Finch was called to the Nixon suite and has been at his side most of the time since as an unofficial but important adviser.

"I'm kind of a trouble shooter," says Finch. "I don't have a line responsibility. RN will ask me to make calls to certain VIPs—a lot of these guys I know from working for him in 1960."

"After the rally at night, we recapitulate the day. It's therapeutic."

There is a strong California influence in the campaign, reflecting the ties Nixon has from his native state. Finch learned about politics in nightly political meetings in California suburbs and so did Nixon's present chief of state, Robert Haldeman, a University of California regent. In fact, newsmen who covered Reagan's 1966 campaign or the governorship have seen a strong similarity between it and Nixon's current drive for the presidency.

Both men favor television over traditional personal appearances. Both men, sharing a tendency to tire, schedule rests in the afternoon, and their day at 10 p.m. and don't begin until 8 a.m. the next day.

GOVERNORSHIPS are at stake in 21 states (black symbols) in the election, 13 of them Democratic and eight Republican. Currently, there are 26 Republican, 24 Democratic.

Robert Finch Man Behind Richard Nixon

By BILL BOYARSKY
Associated Press Writer

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—One by one they trail the candidate off the jet—unsmiling young assistants, their hair neatly trimmed in a preside-burns era cut, their suits dark and well pressed, their faces full of fierce dedication to Richard M. Nixon.

Following the pack is a different sort of a man, a tall, angular fellow who needs a hair-cut and a shoeshine. Even though he lives in sunny California, his face is pale. There's not much sun in a politician's sun-filled room.

He is Robert Hutchison Finch, lieutenant governor of California, one of Nixon's oldest and best friends and now among the first rank of advisers to the Republican candidate for president.

After living uncomfortably in the shadow of California Gov. Ronald Reagan for two years, Finch has now moved onto the sunny plateau of political success as one of the most important men behind the man whom current polls say will be the next president of the United States.

"He is Nixon's perfect alter ego," said a friend. "They think alike. Both are perfectionists. Both are drivers. But Finch never had that heavy image. Finch never came off as a heavy."

Finch, 43, is a Los Angeles lawyer and professional political manager by trade. Starting as a congressional assistant after World War II, he lost a race for Congress, went to work for Nixon and learned to play national politics when he managed Nixon's presidential campaign in 1960.

Four years later he managed Republican George Murphy to the U.S. Senate in California, and then made the unusual jump from back room strategist to candidate when he was elected lieutenant governor in 1966. He polled more votes than Reagan.

Confined by the limited duties of his office, Finch worked hard at state chores and didn't oppose the Reagan-for-president campaign being run out of the governor's office. He even cast a vote for Reagan at the GOP National Convention as a member of the California delegation. Although he advised Nixon privately, he never tried to break the delegation away from Reagan.

As soon as Wisconsin put Nixon over the top, Finch was called to the Nixon suite and has been at his side most of the time since as an unofficial but important adviser.

Dear Abby:

Six Days Do Not A Marriage Make

DEAR ABBY: Al and I have been married for 16 years, if you can call this a marriage. Al says that marriage is a job, like any other job, and since everybody gets at least one day a week off from his job, a man should get a day off from his marriage, so Al works at our marriage 6 days a week, but he takes Sundays off.

He leaves the house late Saturday night, and I don't see him again until early Monday morning. He puts about 200 miles on his car and I don't have the slightest idea where he's been. This doesn't make much sense to me, but I can't talk him out of it. Is he crazy, or am I!

AL'S BETTY

DEAR BETTY: Marriage is a 7-day-a-week job, and there's no time off for good (or "bad") behavior. Al is far from "crazy," if he's able to sell this deal, but I'm not so sure about you, if you're buying it.

DEAR ABBY: Because so many service men read your column, I hope you'll print this. We realize that most men in service don't have time to write letters, but if they are well, they can take 5 minutes to write two words, "I'M FINE" and then sign it.

My brother has been in Vietnam for 5 months. Our whole family writes to him regularly but he's written only three times. My poor mother refuses to leave the house until the mail comes, and I've seen her age 10 years in 5 months! The first we heard from him in 5 weeks was yesterday. He said he was fine. He could have said that 5 weeks ago!

DISGUSTED WITH BROTHER

DEAR DISGUSTED: A man who is in the service could conceivably have many legitimate reasons for not writing. He could be on the move and unable to write. Also, mail is not always delivered without a hitch from the war zone. Some can't write for security reasons. But how about children who are just away from home and don't write either! Sharper than a serpent's tooth.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter who is 16 says that when a girl brings her boyfriend in after a date, the parents should be in bed.

Brenda came home at 11:30 last night after a movie date and she found me in the kitchen baking cookies for a church bake sale which was to take place the next day. She looked at me like I had no business being there and shouted, "Mother, what are you doing up! Go to bed!" I would like your opinion as I was very hurt and upset over this.

HURT MOM

DEAR HURT: If your 16-year-old daughter can tell you where you should be—and get away with it—you have my sympathy. Children do not become disrespectful and insolent over night. It's not possible for me to accomplish in one letter what you apparently have failed to do in 16 years. Sorry.

DEAR ABBY: So the "rich relatives" placed their name-address sticker over another signature and sent the Christmas card out again!

A card so beautiful as to merit double-duty deserves more. The folks who received the second-hand card should have covered the sticker with their own, and sent it back for triple duty.

er," says Finch "I don't have a line responsibility. RN will ask me to make calls to certain VIPs—a lot of these guys I know from working for him in 1960.

"After the rally at night, we recapitulate the day. It's therapy."

There is a strong California influence in the campaign, reflecting the ties Nixon has from his native state. Finch learned about politics in mighty political meetings in California suburbs and so did Nixon's present chief of state, Robert Haldeman, a University of California regent. In fact, newsmen who covered Reagan's 1966 campaign of the governorship have seen a strong similarity between it and Nixon's current drive for the presidency.

Both men favor television over traditional personal appearances. Both men, sharing a tendency to tire, schedule rests in the afternoon, end their day at 10 p.m., and don't begin until 8 a.m. the next day.

The Job Picture

Unemployment is not much of a problem in the United States right now, but politicians and others continue to worry about it. With a jobless rate of 3.6 percent, the way the government figures, the rate is at one of its lowest points.

Still, there are those who are worried. The inflationary spiral of the last half dozen years has caused mammoth expansion of the economy. The government now is trying to cool it off, in view of the deteriorating position of the dollar and the increasing difficulty American manufacturers are having competing at home and abroad with foreign goods.

Attempts to reduce federal expenditures have had no success. Sterner measures which may be required could bring a sudden slowdown and affect the labor market drastically.

One way of preventing a sudden increase in unemployment, and possibly decrease it even further, is to pay as much attention to the many job opportunities as to the unemployed. No one knows what the ratio of jobs available is to those seeking employment, but the help wanted columns of every newspaper give some indication of the number of jobs available.

Inflation is the paradox which at first creates jobs and later forces employers to install labor-saving machinery to remain competitive. It seems obvious the longer the seed of inflation is nurtured, the greater the chance the unemployment statistics will start an inflationary spiral of their own.

Total Insecticide

Before the full effect of birth control pills on the human population has been explored, scientists have discovered a new family of The Pill for insects.

No, they haven't flipped their test tubes — they have merely discovered the techniques involved in human sterilization equally effective against pests.

Prof. A. J. Birch, pioneer in the synthetic process which made possible The Pill, is now a leader in the field of "insect chemistry." One of the current projects of Birch and his associates is development of an arsenal of hormone products which can be used against individual insects as part of a selective extermination program.

Such a revolutionary form of insecticide has many advantages over traditional methods of pest control, including the elimination of poisonous sprays. In case anyone cares, it is also a more humane way of ridding the earth of pests which contribute nothing but annoyance.

Up Goes The Spending

Economists are doing a double take when they survey the direction the federal budget is taking. Two months ago, many were cautioning that slapping both the 10 percent surtax and a spending reduction on the economy would result in a recession.

Inflation continues its upward course unabated. If business has slowed down or credit become tighter, no one has noticed. But many people have noticed what appears to be acceleration in price inflation.

Unions are demanding ever higher gains for their members, presidential candidates are talking about whopping increases in social security payouts because of inflation, and prices of some products become obsolete almost in months.

The tax increase and the budget reduction were never permitted to have the effect they might have had. Federal expenditures in August were running at an annual rate of $196 billion, $16 billion over the ceiling set by Congress.

The tax increase has been nullified by additional government spending, deficit spending at that. As for the $6 billion budget cut, it is now apparent most of this has been in the form of postponed expenditures.

Man On The Moon

Once again, after a series of delays, NASA appears well on the way toward putting a man on the moon. With all its preparations, it still isn't sure what's going to happen to him once he gets there.

Just getting around on the moon is likely to prove one of the most difficult parts of the journey.

The 250-pound space suit and life support pack worn by the astronaut could prove clumsy enough on earth, but could be his nemesis on the moon.

Gravity on that body is one-sixth that of earth, making it necessary for the astronaut to learn new behavior patterns to keep from falling every time he moves.

Such simple actions as striking a rock with a hammer may cause the astronaut to reverberate. Every step he takes will have to be carefully negotiated to keep him from either falling or bounding over the surface like a kangaroo.

All in all, it should be quite a show.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEY (For Hal Boyle)

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Stuart Flexner loves words — their definition, pronunciation and etymology — and it's a good thing he does, because he has just dealt with 155,000 of them as managing editor of the just published College Edition of the Random House Dictionary.

But in addition to this task and that of senior editor of the standard Random House Dictionary, he is an authority on slang, having written the American Dictionary of Slang, published in 1960, which he revised last year.

"Slang," explains the 38-year-old lexicographer, "is the group of words that enters informal speech from a cultural subgroup. The general vocabulary of an average man is expected to know is standard speech, but below that are technical words, colloquialisms and regionalisms, which are fast disappearing under the influence of television."

To be considered slang, Flexner points out, such words must first have been used for a while by a cultural subgroup, such as astronomers, pickpockets, football players or jazz musicians. Second, there must be a synonym for the word. Thus hippie is standard rather than slang, because there is no other term to designate this type of person. Four-letter words are considered by linguists as taboo rather than slang.

A word that was once slang can be universally accepted and become respectable, if enough of the "right" people use it. "Okay," Flexner reports, hasn't carried a slang label for 10 or 15 years and teachers no longer prohibit its use.

"Dictionary makers," he says, "are not judges—we're reporters of the way the language is used by educated people."

Where do new words come from? Areas that are especially productive are space exploration, the Vietnam war, which has put such words as Green Berets and DMZ into the language, politics, sports and culture, popular music, science, culture and fashion trends.

"I would guess as many as 50 new words came into common usage last year," Flexner adds. "For instance, medicare, flashcube, high-rise apartment, SST and DNA."

To keep tabs on the ever-changing language he keeps a card file of words and their frequency of use, adding new ones by computerized scanning of publications, monitoring radio and television and interviewing people in social subgroups.

Try and Stop Me

TWO SALESMEN struck up an acquaintance at a roadside bar and grill. "I've got six sons," boasted the first. "Golly," replied the other, "I wish I had six children!" "Haven't you any?" sympathized the first. "Oh, yes," sighed the other. "I have twelve!"

The late Henry Luce, creator of one of the most powerful magazine empires in history, had his fair share of faults, but dodging issues definitely was not one of them. If you are fed up with weaseling editors and commentators who are continually apologizing for what's wrong with America, and ignoring all the things that make our country great, you will appreciate Luce's answer to a critic who damned him for his prejudices: "I am a Protestant, a Republican, and a free enterpriser, which means I am biased in favor of God, Eisenhower, and the stockholders of Time, Incorporated—and if anyone who objects doesn't know this by now, why the hell are they still buying the magazine?"

One of the orneriest of critics and journalists of our era was the overblown Alexander Woollcott. Because he was a celebrity, hotel managers invariably sent a complimentary bowl of fruit to his room when he arrived on a lecture tour. Because he usually was dieting, Woollcott couldn't eat the fruit, but out of sheer malice made a practice of taking one bite out of each piece of fruit before he checked out.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

There are a few scientific ideas that stagger the imagination. One is that almost any scientific wonder that man can think of, he can almost always create.

Another, an accepted fact in medicine and science, is that if the cause of a disease or disorder is found, almost always the cure will soon follow. A number of diseases are now readily recognized, treated and controlled without a definite cure. One such, myasthenia gravis, is associated with muscular weakness and occurs mostly in women in early adult life. Dr. Kermit Osserman of the Mount Sinai Hospital in New York City is one of the pioneers in the recognition and control of this severe disorder. A number of new drugs, especially neostigmine, have brought marked relief from the weakness of this disease.

Now Dr. Gideon Goldstein of the National Institute of Allergy is using a drug he calls thymin, created from the thymus gland of a calf. Dr. Goldstein has found that experimental animals can be made to develop symptoms almost identical with those of myasthenia gravis.

Thymin is probably a hormone and may, if overproduced in the human, be one of the factors responsible for this disease.

If all of this is true and finally substantiated, then it is almost inevitable that a substance will soon be created to fight the effects of the thymin and bring fulfillment of the dream that thousands of Americans will be spared the incapacitation of this progressive muscular disability.

In the elderly and in some special diseases, the bones of the body lose their calcium, become brittle and often break even without injury. This is known as osteoporosis and, when unchecked, it results in severe incapacitation.

Many patients develop spontaneous fractures caused almost by the weight of the body rather than by injury caused by lack of calcium in the bone. In some cases the exact cause can be found and eliminated with the use of sodium phosphate, sodium fluoride, high concentrations of vitamin D and special hormones. Because many cases fail to respond to this form of treatment, new methods have had to be sought.

© 1968, by Bennett Cerf. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Dr. Charles Y.C. Pak of the National Heart Institute in Maryland undertook to treat some of his patients in a courageous manner by injecting large doses of calcium directly into the bloodstream. Patients who had failed to respond to any of the previously known methods of treatment soon began to show evidence of increased bone deposits and before long were able once again to maneuver outside of their beds and undertake daily activity.

The balance of chemicals like calcium and their relationship to almost every mechanism of the body is truly remarkable. Calcium deficiencies are intimately related to faulty absorption in the intestinal tract, defects in the parathyroid glands in the neck and interference with normal kidney function. The work of Dr. Pak will add greatly to the stockpile of information that is now available to help redeposit calcium in the weakened bones of the body.

Everyone, from pre-adolescent to adult, should know the technique of artificial resuscitation.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The most elusive economic problem for the new administration will be inflation. Practical plans rather than good intentions are needed to solve it, but so far the candidates have expressed mainly goodness of heart.

They have assured voters that they consider the problem urgent, which is telling the public nothing it hasn't learned painfully at the supermarket, the shoe store, the hospital and the bank.

But, except in broad theory, those who seek to run the country for the next four years seem not to have evolved solutions to inflation any more than have officials of the outgoing Johnson administration.

The Republican platform states that price stability will be sought in better management of the national debt and reduction of the nation's interest burden. These are goals rather than solutions.

The same with the Democrats. They promise to seek price stability but seek also an expanding economy and full employment. This also is a goal, one which eluded President Johnson. Inflation helped undermine the Great Society.

Every politician knows in theory how to end inflation. You can slow the economy—cut public spending, take money out of consumer and business hands. By such means you can force a cutback in production and consumption until supply-demand come into better balance.

But textbook theories often are useless in dealing with human problems, and inflation is just that. It is not just a concern of abstract economists but a matter of how people shall live.

Earlier this month, for example, the Business Council, which is made up of corporation heads who meet twice a year with government officials, suggested that the answer to inflation might be a massive cutback on jobs.

This would be a solution, but clearly an undesirable one.

Say the Democrats, "The answer to rising prices will never be sought in unemployment and idle plant facilities. We are firmly committed to the twin objectives of full employment and price stability."

Which is to say, if the incoming administration has no better way of reaching the goal than the previous one, that we will have inflation. In fact, to some extent these goals are contradictory in an already inflated economy.

Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, has promised to use budget policies to combat inflation. He promised to pursue this goal "without increasing unemployment or controls."

This is equally difficult to achieve. If the economy already were in balance—without much inflation, that is—the promise could be kept. But a return to balance is unlikely to be achieved in the manner Nixon describes.

What makes the problem so difficult for most candidates is that the American people seem in spirit to be committed to a rapidly expanding economy and to a more equitable distribution of its rewards through social welfare programs.

Senate Race In New York Features Javits, 2 Foes

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Senate race in New York this year involves a liberal Republican with some Democratic backing, an antiwar Democrat who won't endorse his party's presidential candidate and a Conservative who supports the GOP national ticket.

Jacob K. Javits, 64, the incumbent seeking a third term, rolled up large pluralities in 1966 and 1962, even carrying traditionally Democratic New York City. He has the endorsement of the Liberal Party—which exists only in New York State, and which is backing Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey for president.

Paul O'Dwyer, 61, an antiwar Democrat from New York City, backed Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination and has refused to endorse Humphrey. He won an upset victory in the primary over an organization-backed candidate and an upstate congressman who followed the administration line on Vietnam.

James Buckley, 46, a political newcomer who ran the campaign of his younger brother, William F. Buckley Jr., for the New York City mayoralty in 1965, is the candidate of the Conservative party—another party exclusive to New York State.

Buckley has endorsed Richard M. Nixon, praised the Black Power movement for trying to eliminate dependency on government and urges a full offensive in Vietnam.

O'Dwyer, an Irish-born labor lawyer who was defeated by Javits once before in a 1948 congressional race, was one of the earliest supporters of McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Even before he won the chance to oppose Javits, Humphrey.

Today is Saturday, Oct. 26, the 300th day of 1968. There are 66 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1882, the Erie Canal was opened, connecting the waters of Lake Erie and the Hudson River.

On this date, in 1774, the first Continental Congress adjourned in Philadelphia.

In 1930, Sweden recognized Norway as independent.

In 1917, Brazil declared war against Germany.

Supt. Robert Goforth said the board plans to apply to the Ohio Department of Education for financial and planning assistance to replace the facility.

Approximately 2,000 students attend the school, composed of 70 classrooms in a complex spread over 14 acres.

In 1949, crop failures in Latin America created a coffee shortage in the United States and set off a wave of price increases and hoarding.

In 1960, Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy called Mrs. Martin Luther King and voiced concern over her husband's arrest in Georgia.

Ten years ago — The Roman Catholic College of Cardinals was meeting in secret conclave at the Vatican to elect a new pope after the death of Pius XII.

Five years ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev rejected a U.S. suggestion that the United States and the Soviet Union cooperate in a joint venture to put a man on the moon.

One year ago — President Lyndon B. Johnson welcomed President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico to the White House for an official U.S. visit.

Hado's They'll Do It Every Time

The Job Picture

Unemployment is not much of a problem in the United States right now, but politicians and others continue to worry about it. With a jobless rate of 3.6 percent, the way the government figures, the rate is at one of its lowest points.

Still, there are those who are worried. The inflationary spiral of the last half dozen years has caused mammoth expansion of the economy. The government now is trying to cool it off, in view of the deteriorating position of the dollar and the increasing difficulty American manufacturers are having competing at home and abroad with foreign goods.

Attempts to reduce federal expenditures have had no success. Sterner measures which may be required could bring a sudden slowdown and affect the labor market drastically.

One way of preventing a sudden increase in unemployment, and possibly decrease it even further, is to pay as much attention to the many job opportunities as to the unemployed. No one knows what the ratio of jobs available is to those seeking employment, but the help wanted columns of every newspaper give some indication of the number of jobs available.

Inflation is the paradox which at first creates jobs and later forces employers to install labor-saving machinery to remain competitive. It seems obvious the longer the seed of inflation is nurtured, the greater the chance the unemployment statistics will start an inflationary spiral of their own.

Total Insecticide

Before the full effect of birth control pills on the human population has been explored, scientists have discovered a new family of The Pill for insects.

No, they haven't flipped their test tubes — they have merely discovered the techniques involved in human sterilization equally effective against pests.

Prof. A. J. Birch, pioneer in the synthetic process which made possible The Pill, is now a leader in the field of "insect chemistry." One of the current projects of Birch and his associates is development of an arsenal of hormone products which can be used against individual insects as part of a selective extermination program.

Such a revolutionary form of insecticide has many advantages over traditional methods of pest control, including the elimination of poisonous sprays. In case anyone cares, it is also a more humane way of ridding the earth of pests which contribute nothing but annoyance.

Up Goes The Spending

Economists are doing a double take when they survey the direction the federal budget is taking. Two months ago, many were cautioning that slapping both the 10 percent surtax and a spending reduction on the economy would result in a recession.

Inflation continues its upward course unabated. If business has slowed down or credit become tighter, no one has noticed. But many people have noticed what appears to be acceleration in price inflation.

Unions are demanding ever higher gains for their members, presidential candidates are talking about whopping increases in social security payouts because of inflation, and prices of some products become obsolete almost in months.

The tax increase and the budget reduction were never permitted to have the effect they might have had. Federal expenditures in August were running at an annual rate of $196 billion, $16 billion over the ceiling set by Congress.

The tax increase has been nullified by additional government spending, deficit spending at that. As for the $6 billion budget cut, it is now apparent most of this has been in the form of postponed expenditures.

Man On The Moon

Once again, after a series of delays, NASA appears well on the way toward putting a man on the moon. With all its preparations, it still isn't sure what's going to happen to him once he gets there.

Just getting around on the moon is likely to prove one of the most difficult parts of the journey.

The 250-pound space suit and life support pack worn by the astronaut could prove clumsy enough on earth, but could be his nemesis on the moon.

Gravity on that body is one-sixth that of earth, making it necessary for the astronaut to learn new behavior patterns to keep from falling every time he moves.

Such simple actions as striking a rock with a hammer may cause the astronaut to reverberate. Every step he takes will have to be carefully negotiated to keep him from either falling or bouncing over the surface like a kangaroo.

All in all, it should be quite a show.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEV (For Hal Boyle)

BY JOY STILLEV
NEW YORK (AP) — Stuart Flexner loves words — their definition, pronunciation and etymology — and it's a good thing he does, because he has just dealt with 155,000 of them as managing editor of the just published College Edition of the Random House Dictionary.

But in addition to this task and that of senior editor of the standard Random House Dictionary, he is an authority on slang, having written the American Dictionary of Slang, published in 1960, which he revised last year.

"Slang," explains the 38-year soft-spoken lexicographer, "is the group of words that enters informal speech from a cultural subgroup. The general vocabulary an average man is expected to know is standard speech, informal and slang. Below that are technical words, colloquialisms and regionalisms, which are fast disappearing under the influence of television."

To be considered slang, Flexner points out, such words must first have been used for a while by a cultural subgroup, such as astronomers, pickpockets, football players or jazz musicians. Second, there must be a synonym for the word. Thus hippie is standard rather than slang, because there is no other term to designate this type of person. Four-letter words are considered by linguists as taboo rather than slang.

A word that was once slang can be universally accepted and become respectable, if enough of the "right" people use it. "Okay," Flexner reports, hasn't carried a slang label for 10 or 15 years and teachers no longer prohibit its use.

"Dictionary makers," he says, "are not judges—we're reporters of the way the language is used by educated people."

Where do new words come from? Areas that are especially productive are space exploration, the Vietnam war, which has put such words as Green Berets and DMZ into the language, politics, sports and hobbies, popular music, science, culture and fashion trends.

"I would guess as many as 50 new words came into common usage last year," Flexner adds. "For instance, medicare, flashcube, high-rise apartment, SST and DNA."

To keep tabs on the ever-changing language he keeps a card file of words and their frequency of use, adding new ones by computerized scanning of publications, monitoring radio and television and interviewing people in social subgroups.

TWO SALESMEN struck up an acquaintance at a roadside bar and grill. "I've got six sons," boasted the first. "Golly," replied the other, "I wish I had six children!" "Haven't you any?" sympathized the first. "Oh, yes," sighed the other. "I have twelve!"

The late Henry Luce, creator of one of the most powerful magazine empires in history, had his fair share of faults, but dodging issues definitely was not one of them. If you are fed up with weaseling editors and commentators who are continually apologizing for what's wrong with America, and ignoring all the things that make our country great, you will appreciate Luce's answer to a critic who damned him for his prejudices: "I am a Protestant, a Republican, and a free enterpriser, which means I am biased in favor of God, Eisenhower, and the stockholders of Time, Incorporated—and if anyone objects doesn't know this by now, why the hell are they still buying the magazine?"

One of the orneriest of critics and journalists of our era was the overblown Alexander Woollcott. Because he was a celebrity, hotel managers invariably sent a complimentary bowl of fruit to his room when he arrived on a lecture tour. Because he usually was dining, Woollcott couldn't eat the fruit, but out of sheer malice made a practice of taking one bite out of each piece of fruit before he checked out.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

There are a few scientific ideas that stagger the imagination. One is that almost any scientific wonder that man can think of, he can almost always create.

Another, an accepted fact in medicine and science, is that if the cause of a disease or disorder is found, almost always the cure will soon follow. A number of diseases are now readily recognized, treated and controlled without a definite cure. One such, myasthenia gravis, is associated with muscular weakness and occurs mostly in women in early adult life. Dr. Kermit Osserman of the Mount Sinai Hospital in New York City is one of the pioneers in the recognition and control of this severe disorder. A number of new drugs, especially neostigmine, have brought marked relief from the weakness of this disease.

Now Dr. Gideon Goldstein of the National Institute of Allergy is using a drug he calls thymin, created from the thymus gland of a calf. Dr. Goldstein has found that experimental animals can be made to develop symptoms almost identical with those of myasthenia gravis.

Thymin is probably a hormone and may, if overproduced in the human, be one of the factors responsible for this disease.

If all of this is true and finally substantiated, then it is almost inevitable that a substance will soon be created to fight the effects of the thymin and bring fulfillment of the dream that thousands of Americans will be spared the incapacitation of this progressive muscular disability.

In the elderly and in some special diseases, the bones of the body lose their calcium, become brittle and often break even without injury. This is known as osteoporosis and, when unchecked, it results in severe incapacitation.

Many patients develop spontaneous fractures caused almost by the weight of the body rather than by injury caused by lack of calcium in the bone. In some cases the exact cause can be found and eliminated with the use of sodium phosphate, sodium fluoride, high concentrations of vitamin D and special hormones. Because many cases fail to respond to this form of treatment, new methods have had to be sought.

Dr. Charles Y.C. Pak of the National Heart Institute in Maryland undertook to treat some of his patients in a courageous manner by injecting large doses of calcium directly into the bloodstream. Patients who had failed to respond to any of the previously known methods of treatment soon began to show evidence of increased bone deposits and before long were able once again to maneuver outside of their beds and undertake daily activities.

The balance of chemicals like calcium and their relationship to almost every mechanism of the body is truly remarkable. Calcium deficiencies are intimately related to faulty absorption in the intestinal tract, defects in the parathyroid glands in the neck and interference with normal kidney function. The work of Dr. Pak will add greatly to the stockpile of information that is now available to help redeposit calcium in the weakened bones of the body.

Everyone, from pre-adolescent to adult, should know the technique of artificial resuscitation.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The most elusive economic problem for the new administration will be inflation. Practical plans rather than good intentions are needed to solve it, but so far the candidates have expressed mainly goodness of heart.

They have assured voters that they consider the problem urgent, which is telling the public nothing it hasn't learned painfully at the supermarket, the shoe store, the hospital and the bank.

But, except in broad theory, those who seek to run the country for the next four years seem not to have evolved solutions to inflation any more than have officials of the outgoing Johnson administration.

The Republican platform states that price stability will be sought in better management of the national debt and reduction of the nation's interest burden. These are goals rather than solutions.

The same with the Democrats. They promise to seek price stability but seek also an expanding economy and full employment. This also is a goal, one which eluded President Johnson. Inflation helped undermine the Great Society.

Every politician knows in theory how to end inflation. You can slow the economy—cut public spending, take money out of consumer and business hands. By such means you can force a cutback in production and consumption until supply-demand come into better balance.

But textbook theories often are useless in dealing with human problems, and inflation is just that. It is not just a concern of abstract economics but a matter of how people shall live.

Earlier this month, for example, the Business Council, which is made up of corporation heads who meet twice a year with government officials, suggested that the answer to inflation might be a massive cutback on jobs.

This would be a solution, but clearly an undesirable one.

Say the Democrats, "The answer to rising prices will never be sought in unemployment and idle plant facilities. We are firms committed to the twin objectives of full employment and price stability."

Which is to say, if the incoming administration has no better way of reaching the goal than the previous one, that we will have inflation. In fact, to some extent these goals are contradictory in an already inflated economy.

Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, has promised to use budget policies to combat inflation. He promised to pursue this goal "without increasing unemployment or controls."

This is equally difficult to achieve. If the economy already were in balance—without much inflation, that is—the promise could be kept. But a return to balance is unlikely to be achieved in the manner Nixon describes.

What makes the problem so difficult for most candidates is that the American people seem in spirit to be committed to a rapidly expanding economy and to a more equitable distribution of its rewards through social welfare programs.

Senate Race In New York Features Javits, 2 Foes

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Senate race in New York this year involves a liberal Republican with some Democratic backing, an antiwar Democrat who won't endorse his party's presidential candidate and a Conservative who supports the GOP national ticket.

Jacob K. Javits, 64, the incumbent seeking a third term, rolled up large pluralities in 1956 and 1962, even carrying traditionally Democratic New York City. He has the endorsement of the Liberal Party—which exists only in New York State, and which is backing Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey for president.

Paul O'Dwyer, 61, an antiwar Democrat from New York City, backed Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination and has refused to endorse Humphrey. He won an upset victory in the primary over an organization-backed candidate and an upstate congressman who followed the administration line on Vietnam.

James Buckley, 46, a political newcomer who ran the campaign of his younger brother, William F. Buckley Jr., for the New York City mayoralty in 1965, is the candidate of the Conservative party—another party exclusive to New York State.

Buckley has endorsed Richard M. Nixon, praised the Black Power movement for trying to eliminate dependency on government and urges a full offensive in Vietnam.

O'Dwyer, an Irish-born labor lawyer who was defeated by Javits once before in a 1948 congressional race, was one of the earliest supporters of McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

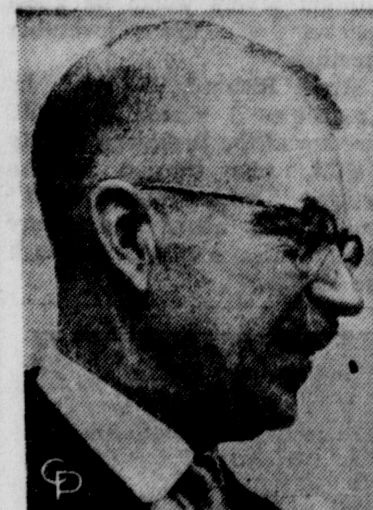

Even before he won the chance to oppose Javits, Humphrey.

O'Dwyer said he would not support Humphrey if the vice president were nominated. He has stuck to that stand.

But he also has consistently attacked Nixon and third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

MR. CHANDLER

Mr. Chandler, our art teacher, is "Teacher of the Week." He is seen in the halls of Logan Elm only in the afternoon because he also teaches elementary art.

Chandler has attended Moorehead State University, Ohio University, and Columbus College of Art and Design. He hasn't received his degree, but he is only a few hours from it.

Chandler lived in Portsmouth but now resides in Stoutsville. Some of his likes are swimming, good food, organization, and a good time. When asked about his dislikes he said that he didn't have any.

He thinks the students at LE are wonderful, very spirited, and congenial.

Two New Students Think Logan Elm Is 'Great'

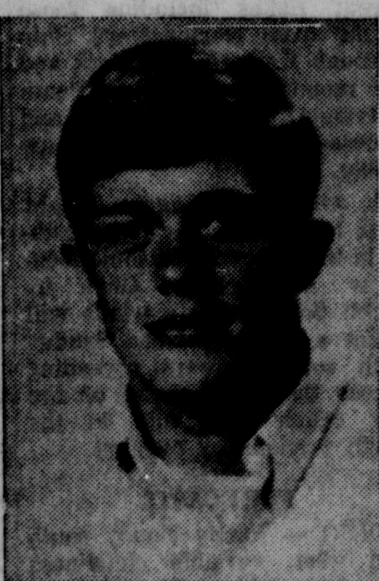

WAYNE GLOVER

Wayne Glover, who resides with his parents at 703 North Pickaway Street is a new Senior roaming the halls of Logan Elm.

He is enrolled in the college preparatory course. After graduation he plans to join either the Peace Corps or VISTA.

He thinks Logan Elm has a great group of teachers and students but because he is supporting Humphrey thinks Logan Elm is "politically backward."

Steve Curtis, a 5'5 1/2" blond haired, blue eyed sophomore, resides at 1900 Chippewa Drive in Logan Elm Village. He is enrolled in the college preparatory course.

He plays football and plans to play basketball and track. When asked what his likes are, he answered, "Becky." He thinks Logan Elm is great.

Libbey-Owens-Ford Plants Are Struck

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Four Libbey-Owens Ford plants were struck by 5,000 members of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union Friday when their contract expired.

Local 9 President Clyde Alexander said contracts in other Libbey-Owens Ford plants throughout the country also have expired and that negotiations are being held in Atlantic City, N. J.

George Mahin, executive director of the Better Government Association, said Thursday the irregularities were uncovered in an investigation conducted by the BGA and the Chicago Daily News.

Derelicts were paid to register, and hotel registries were used to sign up transients without their knowledge, the Daily News said. It added that persons were registered from vacant lots and the guest roster at a Skid Row mission house was used to register 200 persons who no longer stayed there.

Put-Ons Make Women Prettier In A Minute

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN
The prettiest put-ons in town are beautifying aids that work almost instant wonders.
Top of the list is a wig, not any wig but one designed to go places — on your head or folded small in a cylindrical box. Shake it out, fluff it up and the travel wig is curly and ready to wear.
For at your fingertips, the put-on to know about is a kit that holds self-adhesive fingernails. Take them from the box, press them on and your hands are prettier by a well-shaped length.

For fashion fun and for camouflage on days when your eyes aren't as bright and sparkly as they should be, tinted sun specs are the put-on to purchase. So, for a groovy frame, pick one that gives you a goggle-eyed look or is smartly square, six sided, new-shaped. Choose lenses in mauve, green, gray, tan, pink or blue.
Other put-ons to ponder; hair jewels and ornaments; phony lashes; the most feminine put-on of all — perfume!

Fall Recipe Round-Up With An Italian Touch

By ALICE DENHOFF
Fall's a time for macaroni, but then, what season isn't? This recipe round-up is designed to liven up meals when the indoor season puts an end to al fresco dining. Macaroni and cheese can be an acceptable enough dish, but why not make it a superb and attractive casserole?

And use your noodle next time you prepare fish. Flounder fillets, wrapped around a flavorful stuffing are just great over pasta.

MACARONI AND CHEESE WITH TOMATOES
8 oz. elbow macaroni
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. celery salt

1/4 tsp. pepper
1 1/2 c. milk
2 tbsps. chopped canned pimiento
2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
2 1/4 c. grated sharp Cheddar cheese
4 tomato slices
Cook macaroni according to package directions. Meanwhile, melt butter. Add onion; cook 5 minutes. Blend in flour, celery salt and pepper. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add next 2 ingredients and 2 cups of the cheese. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Mix together macaroni and cheese sauce. Pour into a 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with tomato slices and remaining cheese. Bake at 350 F. for 30 minutes. Serves 4 nicely.

Circleville '11' Shutout By Wilmington Hurricane, 32-0

Tiger Offense Held To 75 Yards

Circleville, held to its lowest yardage output in many years, was shutout by visiting Wilmington, 32-0, Friday at rain-drenched Tiger Field in the final South Central Ohio League game of 1968.

The Hurricane defense held the Red and Black to a scant total of 75 yards — 35 through the air and 40 on the ground.

Wilmington, meanwhile, punched for 350 yards on the ground and added 74 passing for a total of 424 yards.

The first quarter was scoreless. Then Wilmington notched two touchdowns in the second quarter, one as time ran out at halftime, one in the third and two in the final period.

CIRCLEVILLE'S defense in the first quarter held Wilmington to 43 yards. The Red and Black got a break late in the period when a pass from center sailed over the head of Wilmington's Dick Williams who was back to punt.

Williams was tackled as he recovered the ball at his own 40 yard line, giving the Tigers a first down at the 40. Circleville advanced three yards to the 37, and then Dick Walters punted to the one yard line.

From the one, Wilmington moved out to the 13 before they were held on downs. Williams got off a bad punt for the Hurricanes, and Circleville got its second break of the game, downing the ball at the 25 yard stripe.

But the Tigers were unable to get a first down, moving only to the 22 yard line before giving up the ball on downs to Wilmington.

That was Circleville's deepest penetration into Wilmington territory during the entire game.

Taking over at the 22, Wilmington advanced three yards on an off tackle plunge by Mike Graham, and then quarterback Karl Rosenberg bootlegged the ball, rolling out to his right.

FOOLING the entire Circleville defense, Rosenberg was well on his way to the goal line before the Tigers recovered. He ran 75 yards for the first touchdown of the game. The try for the extra points was no good.

The Tigers fumbled on the kickoff after the touchdown, but recovered and managed a six yard runback. Five plays later, the Red and Black fumbled again. This time the ball was recovered, by Wilmington at Circleville's 31 yard line.

Three plays later it was Wilmington's turn to fumble, and Steve Olney pounced on the loose pigskin for the Tigers at the 17.

Again Circleville was unable to move the ball and was forced to punt. Walters got off a 34 yard kick to the Wilmington 40.

From there the Hurricanes mounted a scoring drive that consumed nearly the last five minutes of the half, covering sixty yards.

With a little over a minute on the clock, Wilmington picked up a first down at the Circleville eight yard line. The Hurricanes advanced there on 11 plays.

ON their first play, they were called for clipping and the ball was set back to the 17 yard stripe. But the next play, the Tigers were called for interference, and Wilmington had an automatic first down at the 13.

Rosenberg was hit for a big loss back to the 22 by Paul Bost. The Wilmington quarterback tried one pass to Chuck Fazio and missed.

With four seconds on the clock, Rosenberg called another pass. This time he spotted Randy Harris all by himself in the right corner of the end zone and laid a pass in his arms for the score.

Dick Williams ran for the extra points, making the score 14-0 at halftime.

Circleville was held to 39 yards, all on the ground in the first half by the Hurricanes. Wilmington gained 179 yards rushing and 23 passing in the half.

The Hurricanes kicked off to open the first half. It was a short kick that was covered by Phil Diehl at the 41 yard line.

THE first play from scrimmage was a pass by Tom Bowers and it was intercepted by Mike Graham. Both teams battled back and forth with neither gaining a first down until late in the third period.

With 3:40 to go in the quarter, Wilmington recovered a Circleville fumble at the Hurricane 45 yard line.

The visitors moved 55 yards in six plays to score.

The big gainer in the drive was a 26 yard pass from Rosenberg to Harris. Williams drove the last seven yards for the score with 1:23 to go in the half. The run for the extra points failed.

Again the Wilmington kickoff was short and Diehl fielded it at the 37, returning it two yards to the 39. The Tigers tried three straight passes not completing a one, and were forced to punt.

The teams traded punts before the Hurricane got on the score board again in the fourth period. Walters boomed a kick from the Tiger 31 yard line to the Wilmington 31.

DUANE Petty, who relieved Rosenberg in the fourth quarter, hit Fazio with a four yard pass. Then he called on Williams for a three yard gain up the middle.

Fazio then raced 62 yards off tackle to score with 8:23 to go in the game. The try for the extra points was no good and the Hurricanes led, 26-0.

Rick Sims returned the Hurricane kickoff from his own 15 yard line to the 45 yard line.

From there the Tigers penetrated to the Wilmington 28 yard line, but were nailed for a nine yard loss. Then Circleville fumbled at the 34 and the ball was recovered by Wilmington.

In three plays the Hurricanes exploded for their fifth touchdown of the game. Fazio went 38 yards on the scoring play. The try for the extra points was no good and Wilmington led, 32-0 with 3:49 to go in the game.

Wilmington tried an onside kick that bounced off the outstretched hands of two Circleville players and was recovered by Wilmington at the 34.

Going into a shotgun offense with both ends and tackles and both halfbacks split wide, Wilmington completed two passes moving the ball to the 20 yard line.

At this point, with 2:32 showing on the clock, Wilmington coach Jim Knowles finally lifted his starting team, rushing a group of clean-suited players onto the field.

There was little action in the remainder of the game.

A third child and a second straight victory have to make Donnis Butcher the happiest man in the National Basketball Association today.

The Detroit coach, plagued by recent rumors that all was not harmony between him and his players after losing their first three games of the season, welcomed the birth of his third child Friday afternoon. And in the evening, he welcomed the Pistons' second victory in a row, a 132-122 decision over Philadelphia in Detroit.

In the other two games, Los Angeles beat Baltimore 117-111 and Seattle tripped Atlanta 123-112.

In the only American Basketball Association contest, visiting Kentucky held off the New York Nets 99-92.

The Pistons, who held a 63-61 lead at intermission, wasted little time building a 21-point bulge from there behind Dave Bing, Happy Hairston and Dave DeBusschere.

The 76ers did close within six points with little more than a minute left but Bing dropped in three points and Eddie Miles a rebound for the clinchers.

Bing finished with 37 points and Hairston contributed 31. Hal Greer had 30 points for the 76ers.

It was homecoming at Circleville, but the halftime ceremonies were rained out.

The bands did not perform either in pre-game ceremonies or at halftime.

However, the Wilmington band, which had arrived in Circleville at about 5 p.m. Friday, did entertain the few fans that braved the elements with a halftime concert.

The crowd was the smallest ever at the new football field. It rained right up to game time, sprinkled intermittently during the game, and started raining hard again as the tilt neared its end.

"I'm really getting initiated right," Coach Denny Williams commented after the game. "Everybody sure is hungry for Circleville."

The last time Circleville was shutout in the scoring column was in 1966 when Pleasant View turned the trick.

The last time Circleville lost by 30 points or more was in 1961 to Wilmington. The score of that game was 30-0.

But last night's game is still a long way from the most severe thrashing the Tigers have taken in modern times. In 1960, Springfield North beat a Carl Benhase coached squad, 72-6.

The press box last night was a great deal more crowded than the stands.

No Tiger was seriously injured in the game, although Mike Henderson came out of the battle with a black eye and a puffed-up nose.

The Red and Black cheerleaders, Mary Gates, Debbie Smith, Holly Bach, Vicki Schroeder, Vicki Ralston and Joyce Ankrom, had practically nobody in the stands in the latter stages of the game to root for the Tigers. They watched the game from the sidelines.

Circleville closed the South Central Ohio League season last night with a record of two wins and three losses. Next week the opponent will be Franklin Heights, the only team that has beaten Washington C. H. this year.

Wilmington finished second in the league with a 4-1 record. The Hurricane gridders have lost two ball games this year by a total of four points. An inability to score the points after touchdown which they exhibited last night hurt them in the two losses.

QUEBEC (AP) — Jon Vandenburg put Cleveland ahead to stay with a second period goal and an assist on another and the Barons whipped the Auebec Aces 4-2 Friday night in an American Hockey League match.

Washington C.H. Claims South Central Grid Title

Washington C. H. laid claim to the gold football trophy that goes with an all-winning South Central Ohio league season by defeating Hillsboro, 36-6, Friday.

Wilmington, with its 32-0 shutout of Circleville, finished second and Miami Trace ran wild in a 62-6 romp at Greenfield to finish third.

Circleville was fourth. Hillsboro fifth and Greenfield sixth to round out the league.

Bev Lee set a new Miami Trace scoring record as he raced for seven touchdowns and scored one two point conversion for a total of 44 points against Greenfield.

LEE gained 241 yards in 25 carries and returned punts a total of 105 yards. Two of his punt returns went for touchdowns.

The first score in the Trace-Greenfield game was a 60 yard punt return by Lee. He scored on runs of 30 yards, 13 yards, 15 yards, 29 yards, and six yards. His other punt return was for 45 yards.

Miami Trace gained 398 yards rushing and 25 passing. Greenfield was held to 88 yards on the ground and 43 through the air.

Of the 131 yards that Greenfield gained in the game, 70 came in a last quarter scoring drive that culminated with a Paul Howland to Dick Kasler pass for the six points.

Lowell Harper scored twice as Washington coasted to its fifth league win. One of his runs was for 80 yards.

Stanley Brown scored on a 19 yard pass from Ed Heath and Rob Wilson tallied two touchdowns in the game.

THE Blue Lions crossed the goal line once in the first period, added 22 points in the second and capped their league season with eight markers in the final frame.

Jack Monts De Oca, "Mister Everything" for Hillsboro, accounted for the losing Indians' score on a one yard plunge. Washington rolled up 367 yards to 203 for Hillsboro and had a 16-10 first down edge.

Mustangs Hand PVHS 54-12 Loss

Westfall wrapped up the Scioto Valley Conference football title Friday, pounding Paint Valley, 54-12, in the mud at Mustang Field.

The Dave Katterhenrich coached squad from western Pickaway County went through the SVC schedule undefeated. In the second game of the season the Mustangs tied defending champion Unioto, 12-12 for the only blemish on the conference record.

Pikeon, Adena, Logan Elm and Paint Valley have been the victims of the Westfall high scoring and wide open attack. It is the first football title for Westfall.

THE Mustangs were again led by senior halfback John Furniss, who carried three touchdowns and rushed for 142 yards. Toting the pigskin 19 times, he averaged 7.5 yards.

In eight games this year he is averaging 11.7 yards a carry, gaining 1,528 yards.

Paint Valley won the toss of the coin and elected to receive. The Bearcats fumbled on the kickoff and the ball was recovered by Westfall.

In two plays, they moved for the touchdown, with Furniss carrying four yards, into the end zone.

Gene Carfrey carried for the second Mustang score, still in the first quarter of the game. He charged over the goal line from three yards out.

In the second quarter, Furniss scored from 24 yards out and added the conversion to make the score 20-6 at halftime. Steve Harris scored the Paint Valley touchdown in the second quarter.

IN the third period, the Mustangs exploded for 22 points. Greg Bigam carried from two yards out and Gene Carfrey made the extra points. Then Carfrey broke loose on a 50 yard dash. The last touchdown of the game was a two yard run by Furniss with fullback Ron Parsons adding the extra points.

In the final period, Bigam hit Carfrey with a 25 yard pass and then scored himself on a two yard run.

Bob Cooper's 14 yard run in the final quarter ended the scoring for Paint Valley.

Gene Carfrey gained 114 yards in last night's game. Fullback Chris Scheln was credited with 38 yards in eight carries. Bigam rushed for 39 yards and Ron Parsons for 29.

The Mustangs gained 441 yards in the game on the ground and 29 through the air, completing two of nine pass attempts. They had 14 first downs.

Paint Valley rushed for 113 yards, passed for five and picked up six first downs.

WESTFALL punted three times, averaging 37.8 yards per kick. The Mustangs were assessed 50 yards in penalties and Paint Valley 20 yards.

Jack Moore was the leading tackler in the game with 16. Moore is a senior defensive end. Tim Dewey, and Marlin Howard, junior tackles, had 15 and 12 tackles respectively according to Mustang chart-keepers.

Paint Valley has defeated Adena and Pikeon in SVC action. The Warriors have been beaten by Unioto as well as Westfall.

Next Friday Adena closes the league season hosting Logan Elm. Westfall travels to Teays Valley for the season finale.

Teays Valley Vikings Edged By Canal Winchester, 12-6

Canal Winchester Indians slipped by Teays Valley Friday night in the Vikings' Homecoming tilt, 12-6.

The Indians scored in the fourth quarter to take the lead and the Vikings never caught up.

The losers gained 297 yards with 12 first downs and completed five of 15 passes.

Teays Valley's only touchdown came in the second quarter on a 65-yard pass play from Mike Buckingham to Mark Leatherwood.

For the Indians, Cunningham proved to be a real threat to the Viking defense by scoring two touchdowns. He scored for the first time in the third quarter on a five yard run. In the fourth quarter he carried the ball one-yard for the score.

TEAYS Valley has a 1-6-1 record for the season. They finished the Metropolitan League schedule a week ago with a 0-3-1 mark.

Next week the Vikings end the season hosting Westfall, the Scioto Valley Conference champs.

Hamilton Twp. won its first

Circleville '11' Shutout By Wilmington Hurricane, 32-0

Tiger Offense Held To 75 Yards

Circleville, held to its lowest yardage output in many years, was shutout by visiting Wilmington, 32-0, Friday at rain-drenched Tiger Field in the final South Central Ohio League game of 1968.

The Hurricane defense held the Red and Black to a scant total of 75 yards — 35 through the air and 40 on the ground.

Wilmington, meanwhile, punched for 350 yards on the ground and added 74 passing for a total of 424 yards.

The first quarter was scoreless. Then Wilmington notched two touchdowns in the second quarter, one as time ran out at halftime, one in the third and two in the final period.

CIRCLEVILLE'S defense in the first quarter held Wilmington to 43 yards. The Red and Black got a break late in the period when a pass from center sailed over the head of Wilmington's Dick Williams who was back to punt.

Williams was tackled as he recovered the ball at his own 40 yard line, giving the Tigers a first down at the 40. Circleville advanced three yards to the 37, and then Dick Walters punted to the one yard line.

From the one, Wilmington moved out to the 13 before they were held on downs. Williams got off a bad punt for the Hurricanes, and Circleville got its second break of the game, downing the ball at the 25 yard stripe.

But the Tigers were unable to get a first down, moving only to the 22 yard line before giving up the ball on downs to Wilmington.

That was Circleville's deepest penetration into Wilmington territory during the entire game.

Taking over at the 22, Wilmington advanced three yards on an off tackle plunge by Mike Graham, and then quarterback Karl Rosenberg bootlegged the ball, rolling out to his right.

The Tigers fumbled on the kickoff after the touchdown, but recovered and managed a six yard runback. Five plays later, the Red and Black fumbled again. This time the ball was recovered by Wilmington at Circleville's 31 yard line.

Three plays later it was Wilmington's turn to fumble, and Steve Olney pounced on the loose pigskin for the Tigers at the 17.

Again Circleville was unable to move the ball and was forced to punt. Walters got off a 34 yard kick to the Wilmington 40.

From there the Hurricanes mounted a scoring drive that consumed nearly the last five minutes of the half, covering sixty yards.

With a little over a minute on the clock, Wilmington picked up a first down at the Circleville eight yard line. The Hurricanes advanced there on 11 plays.

ON their first play, they were called for clipping and the ball was set back to the 17 yard stripe. But the next play, the Tigers were called for interference, and Wilmington had an automatic first down at the 13.

Rosenberg was hit for a big loss back to the 22 by Paul Bost. The Wilmington quarterback tried one pass to Chuck Fazio and missed.

With four seconds on the clock, Rosenberg called another pass. This time he spotted Randy Harris all by himself in the right corner of the end zone and laid a pass in his arms for the score.

Dick Williams ran for the extra points, making the score 14-0 at halftime.

Circleville was held to 39 yards, all on the ground in the first half by the Hurricanes. Wilmington gained 179 yards rushing and 23 passing in the half.

With 3:40 to go in the quarter, Wilmington recovered a Circleville fumble at the Hurricane 45 yard line.

The visitors moved 55 yards in six plays to score.

The big gainer in the drive was a 26 yard pass from Rosenberg to Harris. Williams drove the last seven yards for the score with 1:23 to go in the half. The run for the extra points failed.

Again the Wilmington kickoff was short and Diehl fielded it at the 37, returning it two yards to the 39. The Tigers tried three straight passes not completing a one, and were forced to punt.

In the second quarter, Furniss scored from 24 yards out and added the conversion to make the score 20-6 at halftime. Steve Harris scored the Paint Valley touchdown in the second quarter.

IN the third period, the Mustangs exploded for 22 points. Greg Bigam carried from two yards out and Gene Carfrey made the extra points. Then Carfrey broke loose on a 50 yard dash. The last touchdown of the game was a two yard run by Furniss with fullback Ron Parsons adding the extra points.

In the final period, Bigam hit Carfrey with a 25 yard pass and then scored himself on a two yard run.

Bob Cooper's 14 yard run in the final quarter ended the scoring for Paint Valley.

Gene Carfrey gained 114 yards in last night's game. Fullback Chris Schein was credited with 38 yards in eight carries. Bigam rushed for 30 yards and Ron Parsons for 29.

The Mustangs gained 441 yards in the game on the ground and 29 through the air, completing two of nine pass attempts. They had 14 first downs.

Paint Valley rushed for 113 yards, passed for five and picked up six first downs.

WESTFALL punted three times, averaging 37.8 yards per kick. The Mustangs were assessed 50 yards in penalties and Paint Valley 20 yards.

Jack Moore was the leading tackler in the game with 16. Moore is a senior defensive end. Tim Dewey, and Marlin Howard, junior tackles, had 15 and 12 tackles respectively according to Mustang chart-keepers.

Paint Valley has defeated Adena and Pikeon in SVC action. The Warriors have been beaten by Unioto as well as Westfall.

Next Friday Adena closes the league season hosting Logan Elm. Westfall travels to Teays Valley for the season finale.

Teays Valley Vikings Edged By Canal Winchester, 12-6

Canal Winchester Indians slipped by Teays Valley Friday night in the Vikings' Homecoming tilt, 12-6.

The Indians scored in the fourth quarter to take the lead and the Vikings never caught up.

The losers gained 297 yards with 12 first downs and completed five of 15 passes.

Teays Valley's only touchdown came in the second quarter on a 65-yard pass play from Mike Buckingham to Mark Leatherwood.

For the Indians, Cunningham proved to be a real threat to the Viking defense by scoring two touchdowns. He scored for the first time in the third quarter on a five yard run. In the fourth quarter he carried the ball one-yard for the score.

TEAYS Valley has a 1-6-1 record for the season. They finished the Metropolitan League schedule a week ago with a 0-3-1 mark.

Next week the Vikings end the season hosting Westfall, the Scioto Valley Conference champs.

Hamilton Twp. won its first

Metropolitan League football title Friday, defeating West Jefferson, 13-0 for a 4-0 loop mark.

U.S. Troops Beat Off Red Attack

SAIGON (AP) — A strong enemy force attacked U.S. troops today, 59 miles north of Saigon, but was beaten back with heavy casualties. It was the first enemy-initiated combat in a month coinciding with statements from Hanoi rejecting U.S. peace overtures.

American spokesmen said about 200 enemy, supported by a mortar barrage, attacked a bivouac position of U.S. 1st Division infantrymen two miles from the Cambodian border. The attack followed an artillery barrage on Viet Cong base camps in the area that triggered 128 secondary explosions, indicating that sizable munitions dumps were blown up.

The storage site was seven miles east of the Katum Special Forces camp, a frequent target of enemy shelling.

The spokesmen also reported that allied troops killed 46 enemy for every American or allied soldier lost in combat in the past two days, an extraordinarily high kill ratio.

TODAY In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has reportedly reached a tentative decision to close its base at Torrejon, Spain, near Madrid.

The move, reported Friday by reliable sources, would clear the way for a new agreement on the other two U.S. air bases in Spain.

Torrejon is headquarters of the 16th Air Force. Spanish officials had claimed the base would endanger Madrid if any enemy were to attack U.S. installations.

The tentative decision was reportedly reached after a conference between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Spanish Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella earlier this month.

The United States and Spain are still $460 million apart, however, on the price the United States must pay for maintaining rights to its other two bases.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Longshoreman-philosopher Eric Hoffer has engaged in a shouting match with a Negro sociologist during hearings by President Johnson's violence commission.

Hoffer told the sociologist, Herman Blake, a witness before the commission Friday, that Negroes in a San Francisco longshoremen's union "suppressed each other, they didn't trust each other."

"You don't have to talk to us. You have to talk to each other and get together," said Hoffer, a commission member.

Blake said Negro longshoremen make good salaries and can purchase home and support families.

"I'm talking about communities where people live in poverty and die in degradation," said Blake.

Hoffer shouted: "You have to build a community."

"We can't build a community with white people like you telling us what to do," said Blake.

VA Pensioners To Receive Income Forms

Veterans and their dependants on Veterans Administration pensions in Pickaway County will be receiving their annual income questionnaire forms and reporting instructions for submitting income information needed for computing entitlement to pension benefits, according to James Shea county veterans administrator.

The forms and instructions will be mailed a month early this year and will be enclosed with pension payments mailed about Nov. 1, instead of the usual Dec. 1, date. The deadline for returning questionnaire reports to the VA has also been moved up from Jan. 31, to January 15, to insure delivery of pension checks for the month of January by Feb. 1, 1969.

Persons receiving VA pension are cautioned to be sure and extract the reporting card and special instructions enclosed with pension checks to be received Nov. 1, 1968 and not throw the envelope away before removing these important enclosures.

Pensioners are also urged to prepare their returns as soon as possible and not wait until the middle of January before submitting their reports.

Three Injured In 2 Accidents

Three persons were injured in two accidents investigated by Circleville Police Friday afternoon and early today.

Eddie Wells, 17, 484 E. Main St., lost control of his car as his brakes failed while turning off North Court St. into Ted Lewis Park entrance at 3:29 p.m. yesterday.

Wells' car struck one of the pillars at the entrance, causing extensive damage both to the vehicle and the pillar.

He was cited by Circleville police for operating a motor vehicle with faulty brakes.

Wells sustained a laceration of the forehead, requiring emergency treatment at Berger Hospital. Also treated at the hospital for lacerations of the face was William Joyce, 462 N. Court St., a passenger in the car.

At 3:42 a.m. today, Wayne Wilson Glover, 17, 703 N. Pickaway St., lost control of his car on E. Mound St. at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing.

Glover skidded into a parked car. The impact ripped off the left door, and Glover was thrown 40 feet underneath a nearby auto.

Both his auto and the one he struck, owned by Charles Camp, 699 E. Mound St., were demolished.

Glover was taken to Berger Hospital where he was treated for abrasions of the head and face and lacerations. He was admitted for X-rays and further treatment.

Circleville Police cited Glover for driving while intoxicated. He will appear before juvenile court judge Guy Cline to answer the citation.

Deadline Set For Medicare Payments

The 1967 amendments to the Social Security Law have set a deadline on the length of time allowed to file claims for medical insurance reimbursement under Medicare, according to Robert M. Martin, district manager of the Chillicothe social security office.

Mr. Martin explained that all claims for medical services (such as: doctor bills, ambulance fees, bills for medical equipment and supplies, etc.) received prior to October 1967 must be filed with Medicare by Dec. 31, 1968.

After that deadline the bills cannot be paid under the medical insurance program. All Medicare beneficiaries should check through their old medical bills to be sure that bills for services performed prior to October 1967 have been sent for possible payment.

Any bills from the period before October 1967 which have not been filed should be sent in immediately. Prompt action will insure that each beneficiary receives his full protection under Medicare.

Mr. Martin emphasized that only those bills for services received before October 1967 need be submitted by Dec. 31, 1968. Any bills incurred since October 1967 are valid until Dec. 31, 1969 and reimbursement for them may be claimed up to that time.

Anyone needing assistance in filing his medical insurance claim should contact the Chillicothe district office for assistance. The office is located at 606 Central Center and the telephone number is 775-4950. Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday, holidays excepted. In addition, on Thursday evenings, the office remains open until 7 p.m. in order to accommodate those persons unable to come in during regular daytime hours.

U.S. Troops Beat Off Red Attack

SAIGON (AP) — A strong enemy force attacked U.S. troops today, 59 miles north of Saigon, but was beaten back with heavy casualties. It was the first enemy-initiated combat in a month coinciding with statements from Hanoi rejecting U.S. peace overtures.

American spokesmen said about 200 enemy, supported by a mortar barrage, attacked a bivouac position of U.S. 1st Division infantrymen two miles from the Cambodian border. The attack followed an artillery barrage on Viet Cong base camps in the area that triggered 128 secondary explosions, indicating that sizable munitions dumps were blown up.

The storage site was seven miles east of the Katum Special Forces camp, a frequent target of enemy shelling. The spokesmen also reported that allied troops killed 46 enemy for every American or allied soldier lost in combat in the past two days, an extraordinarily high kill ratio. In today's battle near the Cambodian border, the U.S. infantrymen called in artillery strikes on the attackers. After a fierce fire fight they found 80 enemy bodies around the camp perimeter. U.S. losses were five killed and 28 wounded.

A senior American spokesman said he did not consider today's fighting an end to the month-long lull in the ground war. He said he didn't think the enemy attack was premeditated. "I think this is a traditional Viet Cong infiltration route," he said. "The 1st Division troops probably just got in the way. Any time we get into an area where they don't want us, they'll fight."

Today's battle raised to 516 the number of enemy troops killed since Friday. Military spokesmen said 963 enemy have been killed in the past five days across South Vietnam.

Striking from land, sea and air, allied forces killed 436 enemy Friday in two battles along a 260-mile stretch of coast from the demilitarized zone to Nha Trang.

Troops of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, supported by jet fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships, artillery and offshore bombardments from the battleship New Jersey, decimated more than half of an estimated 400-strong North Vietnamese force.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has reportedly reached a tentative decision to close its base at Torrejon, Spain, near Madrid.

The move, reported Friday by reliable sources, would clear the way for a new agreement on the other two U.S. air bases in Spain.

Torrejon is headquarters of the 16th Air Force. Spanish officials had claimed the base would endanger Madrid if any enemy were to attack U.S. installations.

The tentative decision was reportedly reached after a conference between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Spanish Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castiella earlier this month.

The United States and Spain are still $460 million apart, however, on the price the United States must pay for maintaining rights to its other two bases.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Longshoreman-philosopher Eric Hoffer has engaged in a shouting match with a Negro sociologist during hearings by President Johnson's violence commission.

Hoffer told the sociologist, Herman Blake, a witness before the commission Friday, that Negroes in a San Francisco longshoremen's union "suppressed each other, they didn't trust each other."

"You don't have to talk to us. You have to talk to each other and get together," said Hoffer, a commission member.

Blake said Negro longshoremen make good salaries and can purchase home and support families.

"I'm talking about communities where people live in poverty and die in degradation," said Blake.

Hoffer shouted: "You have to build a community."

"We can't build a community with white people like you telling us what to do," said Blake.
